DID NOT STEAL GOODS ACCUSED WOMAN ASSERTS

Mrs. Dailey Says She Has Evidence to Show She Purchased Every Article.

Mrs. Ella Dailey, of 35 Courtland street, who is charged with shoplifting, had her case continued in the City court until tomorrow, in bonds of $1,500 which she readily furnished herself.

When seen at Police Headquarters today Mrs. Dailey said: "It is simply ridiculous the manner in which the newspapers have printed articles saying that I am the leader of a gang of shoplifters and that goods to the value of $50,000 were stolen. I defy any appraiser to value the entire amount of goods taken from my home at more than $200 or $300, and I am ready to prove that I bought the goods and retain the receipts for most of them."

"Both the police and the newspapers have been very unfair to me and all that I ask is a square deal in the matter. I am not a shoplifter, and while I will have to prove that fact in court, I feel confident that I will be thoroughly vindicated. The goods that I am accused of stealing were bought and paid for by me, not alone in local stores, but in Troy, N. Y., and New York City, and fortunately I have many papers to prove what I claim."

"A large number of the articles were bought by me many years ago, and as I have been very careful of my things they are in good condition today, but no expert would say that they were taken right out of the stock of a store. When the police entered my home they even took the clothes I was wearing every day and I have had to come to Police Headquarters to ask permission to wear some of my own clothes."

"This I consider is an unnecessary hardship, but can be endured if the officials and the newspapers were only a little more careful in the assertions they make. The law reads, I believe, that a person is held innocent until proven guilty; well it seems as though the officials, taking the word of store detectives, floorwalkers, clerks and others, have taken upon themselves the idea that one is guilty until proven innocent, even before I am brought to trial."

"I do not want to survive about the matter or be childish and expect a whole lot of sympathy, but I will ask a little fairness. I am all alone in Bridgeport at present, my husband being in the government service in Washington, but I have retained a legal adviser and intend to fight the matter to the bitter end. They say I stole thousands of dollars worth of goods. Now let them prove it."

PLEAD GUILTY ON CHARGE TO EVADE TAXES BY FRAUD

New York, June 17.—To the indictment returned in September, 1915, charging conspiracy to defraud the government of the United States of the value of oleomargarine, Frank W. Tillinghast, Leonard L. Barber and Samuel B. Penner, in business in Providence, R. I., as the Vermont Mfg. Co., today entered pleas of guilty before Federal Judge Hill.

Fraud aggregating $1,000,000 is alleged to have been committed by the defendants, between 1912 and 1914, by using palm oil to color oleomargarine so as to deceive the internal revenue collectors and evade a tax of 10 cents a pound on the product made by them.

The sum of $1,000,000 is the amount of the unpaid taxes for the recovery of which the government has instituted a civil suit against the Vermont Mfg. Co.

Sentence of the trio was deferred to allow their counsel to prepare answers to the district attorney's statement of the facts in the case to the court.

Tillinghast is president of the concern.

It having been shown that although he had sworn allegiance to the United States he had no real belief in the principles of the Constitution.

NO CONTESTS IN THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES HERE

Democratic primaries will be peaceful beyond anything known in years. They have been called for Saturday, June 22 and are marked by the absence of contests.

The business in hand is the selection of delegates to a town and city convention, which will select delegates to state, county, senatorial, probate and representative conventions. The state convention will name a state ticket. This is the year in which representatives in congress are chosen. If there is any interest in any question it will be over the selection of senators and representatives, because of the constitutional amendment for prohibition will be before the Assembly for action.

Louis A. Vegsey, of 896 Wordin avenue, charged with stealing an automobile belonging to Michael Chesko, of 662 Arctic street, last Friday night while it stood at the corner of Fairfield avenue and Middle street, was arraigned in the city court today and had his case continued until June 20.

According to the police the car was stolen from the parking place in Middle street while the owner was at the theatre and a search was made immediately the loss became known. The machine was traced to Stamford and was finally stopped between Greenwich and Portchester. When the machine was located it is alleged that Vegsey, who is a well-to-do Bridgeport business man, was one of the men who jumped from the car and tried to make their escape. One of the men got away, but Vegsey was captured and later turned over to the Bridgeport police. Chesko recovered his car.

CLASS REUNIONS ON ECONOMIC BASIS AT YALE

New Haven, June 17.—Aside from the planting of the class ivy by seniors no formal event was on the commencement program at Yale university today. Alumni, however, made it an occasion for gatherings at class headquarters. The alumni advisory board met for business, and at noon it was luncheon by the corporation.

The latter body met in the afternoon to dispose of such business as had come up in connection with the commencement. The planting of the class ivy on the college campus was carried out late in the day. The customary class day exercises of the college and scientific school were omitted.

All the class reunions are held on an economical basis. The number of men back is large, especially in the classes above the decennial. The younger classes indicate the heavy drain made on them by the call to service. Tomorrow, Alumni day, will see the customary gathering of graduates. In place of the Harvard-Yale ball game there will be a patriotic meeting.

CHAPMAN DIES OF WOUND INFLICTED UPON HIM IN MAY

Norwich, June 17.—Herman J. Chapman of Preston, who was shot when Arthur Salsbery killed Constable William Kinney of that town on May 6, died at the Backus hospital today. Salsbery was recently arrested in an Ohio town and was brought back and is now being held without bail for killing Kinney.

Salsbery lived in a house belonging to Chapman on the Western road a short distance below Hallville. Chapman went with the constable to put Salsbery out as he would not vacate under a dispersal order of May 1. Salsbery fired from a window, killing Kinney and wounding Chapman. Then he fled, and although he could have been easily recognized through having a wooden leg, Salsbery got a long way from here before he was taken.

Chapman leaves his widow and a son in Preston.

HOLCOMB CONFRS WITH CHIEF EAGAN ON DANBURY FIGHT

Hartford, June 17.—Gov. Holcomb had a conference with Thomas F. Egan, superintendent of state police, on the matter of allowing a prize fight in Danbury on the Fourth of July.

John H. Perry, chairman of the state police commission, has also had a talk with Mr. Egan on the matter.

Supt. Egan has made an investigation of the conditions under which it is proposed to conduct the fight and says he is satisfied that it would be a violation of the law. He accordingly has communicated with the prosecuting officials of Danbury, informing them of his intention to prevent the fight. He has also notified Mr. Mul-sberry, who is the manager of the proposed fight, that it would not be allowed.

Supt. Egan said today that he learned when making his investigation that the fight was in connection with a plan to find a man who would be paid to break through the gates of the champion, it was to be an affair of national importance, he said, and would attract men to Danbury from all over the country.

INTENSE FIGHTING ON ITALIAN FRONT

It is believed that the Austrian general attack is a repetition of the enemy's maneuver of last October, when he took the offensive from Caporetto to Montefalco with the intention of disguising his main plan of breaking through the Alps and forcing the Italians to retire to the Balkans.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS ARE SENT TO PRISON

years, and Michael Clupa, 10 years. "In my judgment," said Secretary Baker's approval, "the sentences should be executed and, if after this war is over, some process can be devised by which these entirely undesirable citizens can be returned to the countries of their preference, it would be highly desirable from the point of view of the United States."

"I have not the least doubt as to the propriety of the proceedings in these cases, nor am I uncertain as to the correctness of the results reached. The soldiers in all these cases were either naturalized citizens of the United States or native citizens of the United States born of parents of countries with which the United States is now at war. They were properly members of the army of the United States pursuant to the selective draft law. They were summoned before the proper officers of the army and asked whether they would in fact fulfill their military obligations by fighting against Germany and Austria in Europe. They all answered that they would not. There was the same shuffling on the part of some of the soldiers as to what they meant by their answers, and some long winded refinements were undertaken to the effect that some of them were willing to fight Germans and Austrians generally, but would not fight their own relatives although they offered no explanation of the process by which they were going to discover whether particular Germans and Austrians whom they were required to shoot at from long range happened to be related to them."

"In one of the records the soldier claims to have an uncle, evidently too old to be in the military service of Austria, whom he once saw, and he had heard of 10 or 12 other relatives in Austria of some of whom he had seen photographs which must have been of a very persuasive character since they aroused in him emotions of blood kinship strong enough to overcome the obligations of his oath of allegiance as an American citizen."

"These men were full citizens of the United States, most of them by the voluntary act of naturalization. They were full citizens in the sense that they had equal rights and privileges with all other citizens. They have also equal responsibilities. Among these duties and responsibilities is to protect the United States against all its enemies, domestic and foreign. No right is extended to a naturalized citizen to pick and choose."
